Immediate Release

Dr. Philip Willink was re-elected president of the Association for the Wolf Lake Initiative (AWLI) Saturday at its annual organizing meeting.

A fish biologist, Willink works with the Illinois Natural History Survey. He has more than 25 years of experience in research, teaching and global expeditions studying fish biodiversity as well as endangered and invasive species.

Other officers re-elected were Ken Czulno, vice-president; Dr. Ahmed Lakhani, treasurer; and Richard Chambers, special projects. James Buitter, past president, was elected to fill the vacant secretary position.

The board meets quarterly.

AWLI is a not-for-profit organization seeking to promote and enhance the Wolf Lake Watershed for the past 23 years.
